

SWANSON WILL NOT APPOINT DIRECTOR

Will Let New Governor Select Member of Penitentiary Board.

NEGROES WILL BE RESPITED

Attorney Machen Still at Work. Gettysburg Monument Designs.

James B. Wood, superintendent-elect of the State Penitentiary, called on Governor Swanson yesterday and tendered his resignation as a member of the board of directors of the State prison. It was accepted. Mr. Wood assumes the duties of his new office at once. His bond is $50,000, with the Virginia Trust Company as surety. The Governor announced that he would not appoint Mr. Wood's successor to the board, leaving that position to be filled by the new executive. The important contract with the Davis Shoe Company will expire during the coming term, and it is regarded as probable that so far as possible the Governor and the board should be in accord on the subject.

RESPITE FOR NEGROES

Alexandria Convicts Given Another Sixty Days of Life.

Governor Swanson will today respite Calvin Johnson, Richard Pines and Eugene Dorsey, negroes, convicted of the murder of Walter Schultz, the Chicago artist, and sentenced to be electrocuted Friday, for a period of sixty days. This respite will be granted at the request of Judge L. C. Bailey and Commonwealth's Attorney Samuel G. Brent, who communicated with the Governor last night. The men are to be saved from the electric chair because of an alleged second confession made by Smith. His nature is unknown. The authorities place so much credence in his statements made since his conviction, Friday last, that it was deemed inexpedient to send the condemned men to their doom without thoroughly investigating Judge Bailey's story. The trial judge, stated last night that Smith's stories since his conviction will be thoroughly sifted into to get at the truth of the case. It is reported that Smith, among other things, claims the whole story he has oft repeated without variance was a fabrication. It is also reported that the trial judge has told various other stories which throw an entirely different aspect on the case. Smith is now in the Alexandria county jail.

Designs for Monument.

A representative of a South Carolina granite concern called on the office of the Governor yesterday with designs to be submitted for the proposed Gettysburg monument. A number of photographs were shown, including poses made for the purpose and monuments erected in different parts of the country.

The commission will meet on January 18 at the office of the Governor for the purpose of passing on the bids and of formulating a report to the General Assembly.

KEEN PLAY RULES IN PINEHURST CONTEST

Pinehurst, N. C., January 11.—Keen play ruled in to-day's first and second rounds of the seventh annual midwinter golf tournament. William D. Tuckerman, of Chevy Chase, and William C. Freeman, of Foxhalls, J. P. Knapp, of Garden City, and John J. Hazen, of Oakland, meeting in to-morrow's semi-final to decide the right to play for the President's or first division trophy.

The feature of the day was a nineteen-hole match between Mr. Tuckerman and Frederick Spare, of Englewood, which the Chevy Chase player won.

The score was two up, in favor of Mr. Tuckerman at the turn, even again on the sixteenth, and even again on the eighteenth. Mr. Tuckerman taking the extra hole with a drive, a mid-river approach, and two putts. Charles Presbury, of Foxhalls, figured in an extra hole match with George C. Dutton, of Oakley, in the morning round, losing by a single stroke.

In other divisions an evenly matched field developed many keen competitors. Three divisions of freight each, composed of the overflow field, qualified

Winter Overcoats about to drop. The long fierce winter ahead would give a new overcoat a lot of use. Though some dealers believe in hanging on, we, not being in the possum game, know the wearing season is open for three months, while the selling season is nearing the end.

So down come all our Winter Overcoats—25 per cent. to 33 per cent. off their former prices.

BLAMES "LABOR TRUST"

Responsibility for Higher Cost of Living Lies With Unionism.

Springfield, Mass., January 11.—Large responsibility for the higher cost of living was laid by John Kirby, Jr., president of the National Manufacturers' Association, upon what he called the "labor trust." Mr. Kirby delivered to-day before the Employers' Association at Springfield, Mr. Kirby asserted to "absolute control" over labor that is hired and paid for by employers, and charged that its efforts to this end were not to be abandoned, although unwittingly, by the National Civic Federation.

Mr. Kirby's address was largely a reply to a recent informal attack upon his organization in an article in the National Civic Federation Review. After stating that there is general complaint about high prices of the necessities of life, Mr. Kirby says that the primary cause of the constant advance in prices of commodities of all kinds lies at the door of the labor trust, a cardinal principle of which is to raise wages and restrict production, neither of which can fail to diminish the purchasing power of the dollar, and when working together they doubly depreciate its value.

Object to Proposed Potash Law.

Revel, January 11.—The United States government to-day informed the German Potash Office that it would regard the adoption by the Reichstag of the proposed potash law as a discrimination against American interests.

It is understood the American position would constitute such a discrimination against the United States as is described in section 2 of the Payne tariff act.

Five Killed and Six Others Badly Burned.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., January 11.—Four men and a boy were killed and six others men badly burned by an explosion of gas in the new shaft of the Nottingham colliery of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Company, at Plymouth to-night. The men were engaged in sinking the shaft, and at a point several feet below the surface broke into a gas feeder, the explosion following. All the victims, with one exception, were foreigners.

The officials of the colliery and the fire bosses entered the mine after the explosion, and were still at the bottom at a late hour to-night.

Suppressed News of Menelik's Death.

Rome, January 11.—The Osservatore Romano sends a dispatch from Harar, a town of southeastern Abyssinia, saying it is reported that King Menelik died December 23, and that the news was concealed in order to avoid internal troubles.

Mr. Kirby's address was largely a reply to a recent informal attack upon his organization in an article in the National Civic Federation Review. WILL FIGHT FOR ROAD FUNDS

Reported Attempt at Discouragement by Interested Parties.

Advocates of continued State cash and convict road funds are preparing to make an active fight for the retention of that policy. Some of the little indignities at reported attempts on the part of certain interested parties to influence representatives of State institutions to fight the good roads appropriation. This does not apply to members of the Legislature, but to interests which have no concern in the real condition of the State treasury.

It is stated that those who will ask appropriations for various institutions are being told that they are more likely to succeed if they will cut off the State aid to roads.

The late L. E. Morgan said that if the convicts did not build a foot of road the investment was a good one for the State, as they are more likely to succeed if they will cut off the State aid to roads.

The forces for better highways are asking what would become of the convicts if they should be withdrawn. They would become the servants of a manufacturing concern at the expiration of the present contract in 1912. Then, with a large force of prisoners and nothing for them to do, they would be in all probability be farmed out again at some ridiculous price to some foreign country.

As to the cash aid, it is pointed out that the money could not be better expended by the Commonwealth in education for the people to the value of better highways. This work of education is yet in its infancy. Real estate values have increased many fold, and the number of instances, with the result of increased taxes. Undeveloped land is being sold for purposes of speculation, which will bring in money to the State.
